

Icelandic Philology and National Culture 1780-1918

International Workshop

University of Amsterdam, November 3-4, 2016

(Venue: Doelenzaal, University Library, Singel 425)

November 3

Moderator: Simon Halink

09.00-09.40

Joep Leerssen: Philologists Between Archive and Activism

09.40-10.40

Gylfi Gunnlaugsson: Whose Cultural Heritage? Icelandic Philological Research and Its Repercussions 1780-1830

10.40-11.00

Coffee break

11.00-12.00

Annette Lassen: The Spirit of the North: Peter Erasmus Müller's Treatise on the Icelandic Language

12.00-13.00

Alderik H. Blom: Rasmus Rask and the Icelandic Language

13.00-14.30

Lunch

14.30-15.30

Clarence E. Glad: Two Philologists, One Forgotten, the Other Captive in the Image of a National Hero : Sveinbjörn Egilsson and Jón Sigurðsson

15.30-16.30

Kim Simonsen: Carl Christian Rafn, The Royal Nordic Society of Antiquaries and the English and American Network

19.00

Dinner

November 4

Moderator: Katja Schulz

09.00-10.00

Gottskálk Jensson: Antiquitates Danicae: The Imperial Ambitions of Old Norse-Icelandic Philology in Copenhagen

10.00-11.00

Jon Gunnar Jørgensen: Rudolf Keyser and His Use of Old Norse Texts in the Norwegian National Program

11.00-11.30

Coffee break

11.30-12.30

Ragnheiður Mósesdóttir: Guðbrandur Vigfússon: An Icelandic Philologist in Oxford

12.30-13.30

Lunch

13.30-14.30

Hjalte Snær Ægisson: National Sovereignty and Its Shortcomings: Benedikt Gröndal's De studiis classicis and the Dichotomizing of Icelandic and French Identities

14.30-15.30

Simon Halink: Between Hekla and Dofrafall: Björn M. Ólsen, Finnur Jónsson, and the Origins of the Eddic Poems

15.30-16.30

Final discussions